

Kvasir is an Association of Lifelong Learning and Adult Education Centres. Qualified members are regional Lifelong Learning and Adult Education Centres in Iceland that operate in the field of adult education and other projects according to a contract with the Ministry of Education, Science and Culture.

The Association Objectives are:

- To advance lifelong learning and university education in Iceland
- To enhance employer awareness of the importance of lifelong learning as a resource and investment for the future that will improve life for individuals, companies and society as a whole.
- To strengthen and encourage more cooperation between lifelong learning centres.
- To strengthen cooperation with education institutions and those who offer and promote lifelong learning in the country aiming at a better public access to education and knowledge in the area where they live.
- To provide a platform for dialogue regarding adult education and lifelong learning in Iceland and in Nordic and international context.
- To guard mutual interest of association members and promote their efforts.
- To enhance awareness of the role of lifelong learning centres within the national education system and seek support for that awareness in overall society.
